Progress

Very little was done outside this week because of the intense rain we received last weekend and continued into this week. As I look out my window, I do see Stark digging for the storm drain installation but that is about all that is happening outside other than some grading.

Inside, the dining room is nearly finished and, of course, we opened the new Wellness Center. We received good news on Martin Health Center in that that the architect and engineer sign-off has been received and we now await the healthcare portion of the survey which should occur in two weeks.

Upcoming Activities

Outside, we expect the work to resume for the ring road and overflow parking and are hopeful much progress will be made as the next week looks fairly dry. The storm drain installation on the north side should be complete within two weeks.

In the dining room, final detail work is being done and we anticipate inspecting that to create a punch list late next week. The opening of the dining room is to occur the week of October 22.

Hopefully the next set of surveyors from the State will come for the new Martin Health Center addition and we will know within the next two weeks if we have any responses to make to them or whether we can occupy the building.

As always, do not hesitate to offer suggestions and/or bring your questions regarding these many activities to us.
